

Project ECHO

Extension for Community Health
Outcomes

Do you work with people living with persistent pain in regional and rural communities?

Project ECHO Persistent Pain can support you in your work through short lectures and case-based learning. Submit your de-identified cases for advice and support. Join our multi-disciplinary community of practice online.

Project ECHO Persistent Pain

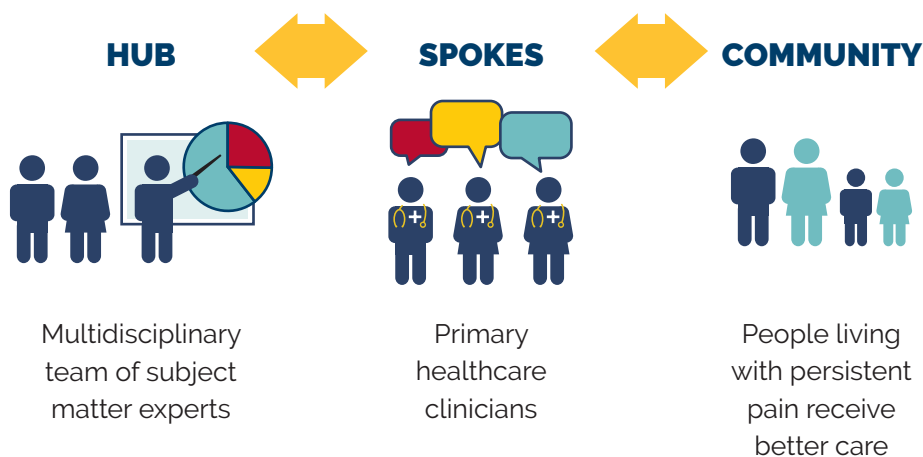

- > Increase your knowledge of evidence-based persistent pain management
- > Participate in a multi-disciplinary community of practice
- > Improve your ability to manage non-complex persistent pain in the community

Includes brief presentations on topics including:

- Pain Education
- Sleep Management
- Chronic Lower Back Pain
- Graded Exposure
- Pelvic Pain
- Medical Cannabis

Wednesdays (fortnightly)
5.30-6.30pm (AEDT)
10 February to
23 June 2021

Enrol now.

Who should join ECHO?

- GPs
- Physiotherapists
- Osteopaths
- Occupational Therapists
- Psychologists
- Exercise Physiologists
- Nurses and Nurse Practitioners
- Other primary healthcare practitioners working with people living with persistent pain

For more information and to enrol visit:

<https://westvicphn.com.au/events-education/project-echo/project-echo-persistent-pain/>

Questions? Contact: projectechopain@westvicphn.com.au

